Brian and Jake Jalbert

The Jalbert Brothers started their careers in video production 15 years ago, as kids making home movies in their backyard. Combining their knowledge of filmmaking and experience in video production, Brian and Jake took an amateur love for film and turned it into a career behind the camera. Together, they now co-own Jalbert Brothers Studios in Clearwater, Florida and have dubbed it "Jallywood." Their catch phrase "don't be fancy, you're not in Hollywood yet" makes the point that you don't have to wait to be in Hollywood to make your filmmaking dreams a reality. Their Facebook filmmaking show, Hacking Hollywood, touches on this subject and other aspects of the film business. With Brian's talent for producing and Jake's passion for cinematography and directing, this filmmaking powerhouse duo is changing the industry from the inside out. Their credits include co - producer and 1st assistant director for the feature film Apple of My Eye- starring Burt Reynolds and Amy Smart- distributed by Sony Pictures, they produced and directed the series pilot called 10 Seconds to Run, and 2 Shows for Amazon Prime Video called Haunted Tours and Share Your Scare.

Barry Chase

Mr. Chase is an honors graduate of Yale College and Harvard Law School. He began his legal career with a large Washington, D.C. law firm (now known as Wilmer Hale), focusing his practice on Communications and First Amendment law. During this time, Mr. Chase represented such media giants as CBS, the Times-Mirror Company, Capital Cities Communications and Time, Inc.

Mr. Chase later became Associate General Counsel of the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS). In that capacity, he dealt with national and international television program and music rights, on-air legal issues relating to the First Amendment, the Fairness Doctrine, Equal Time and defamation, and program funding.

After leaving television and film production in 1995, Mr. Chase returned to the practice of law in Miami. He has represented Spanish- and English-language television and radio stars; Spanish- and English-language production companies; Spanish- and English-language recording artists; fine artists; art galleries; composers; record companies; and filmmakers, models, authors and screenwriters.

He lectures regularly on representation of media personalities and the “do’s and don’t’s” of music, television and film production.

Joe Davison

Widely known for his cult hit 100 Tears, which was voted the third best killer clown film ever made, by iHorror.com, Joe comes straight off of his co-starring role in Stranger Things season 2, where he played the lovable “Nerdy Tech”. Adam Fisher

Armed with a background in business and production, Adam runs the day-to-day operations of Complete Production Group's (CPG's) West Coast office in Los Angeles where he currently serves as the company's President & Managing Partner. Adam has created and fostered life-long relationships with many executives, Hollywood agents, producers, financiers, and industry insiders in show-business. This deep-rooted proximity to the Entertainment Industry provides a wealth of resources to CPG's continued success.

In addition to Adam's core duties with SAG/DGA/WGA Signatory & Business Consulting in TV, film and commercials - his other work includes: Creating budget plans, production payroll, union contract consulting, and obtaining Letters of Intent and/or Letters of Commitment from both A-List celebrities and funders.

"In the film business, crowd funding will never replace "in-crowd" funding."

Whether you're seeking grants, tax credits, private investors, or any type of film-centric project finance, Adam can guide you "from caution to clarity." Having worked closely with all the key players, both above and below the line, he understands the value of finding the right people with the right resources to make things happen. From all technicals and fundamentals such as formation of the production company and reviewing investor packages to drafting of production contracts with talent, crew, and creating producer agreements, Adam professionally clears and executes all the red tape on the business end to keep you focused on the creative.

He is an active member and judge for the NY Emmy Awards, a division of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, and is a current voting member of the Grand Jury for the New York Festival's International TV and Film Awards.

Marc Gold

Marc Gold is an in-demand entertainment executive and producer of Fresh Cats Productions and currently oversees development, marketing, and finance for high quality independent films ranging from 500k to 15 million dollars. His passion for bringing compelling, well-crafted stories to the screen has shaped his career in Hollywood today.

A filmmaker since he was 14 years old, armed with his Super 8 camera and a love of stop motion animation, Marc's life took a different path. Instead of accepting the full ride scholarship to the prestigious NY School of Visual Arts, Marc served his country in the US Navy and then settled into the world of finance where he spent 20+ years in private equity and co-founded several leading California companies.

The visionary filmmaker, former weapons expert, and finance executive returned to the film industry in 2014 with a unique arsenal of skills, developing, packaging, and financing projects. Since this time he has produced a wide range of film genres and platforms, building a reputation for handling high-octane films in the action/horror/thriller space. This includes his recent projects: Big Legend, Swell, and the feature film Wish Man, currently out in theaters for 2019.

Outside of Los Angeles, Marc has refined relationships with many producers, writers, and studio executives in multi-billion dollar entertainment hubs such as Atlanta, New York, Nashville, Las Vegas and Vancouver. These new and ongoing rapports have created a tie-in with various production companies (big & small) and with platform behemoths such as Amazon and Netflix.

With a revolving slate of 15 ongoing films, TV Shows, and New Media Projects - Currently, Marc is spearheading projects such as: The Human Fly (Feature Film), All Stars (Feature Film), The Treasure King (Non-Scripted TV) & Flag of Souls (Documentary).

Lisa Lobel

Lisa Lobel, CSA – with over 20 years of casting experience, she is the co-owner of Boston Casting and one of the founders of the Media Performance division of Boston Casting (the educational arm at Boston Casting).

She is a frequent featured panel speaker for the Massachusetts Production Coalition, the Independent Film Festival Boston, New York City's Winter Film Awards and the Savannah Film Festival – where she speaks to Students and Actors on careers in Casting and Acting. Lobel was also the recipient of the 2018 “Woman of the Year” Imaginaire award.

She cast the critically acclaimed independent film, DONALD CRIED, principals for STRONGER, the Jeff Bauman story, the teen thriller SLENDERMAN and the hit Netflix Series, THE SOCITEY. This year her work can be seen in the upcoming film FREE GUY, directed by Shawn Levy and starring Ryan Reynolds and in SOUND OF METAL starring Riz Ahmed, which was the winner of the BEST PICTURE award at the 2019 Zurich International Film Festival.

Tom Malloy

A critically acclaimed actor, Tom wowed Hollywood with his stunning turn in the indie-cult favorite Gravesend in 1998, which was produced by Oliver Stone. Tom became a trend setter as one of the first successful triple-hyphenate Actor/Writer/Producers.

The roster of films written and produced by Malloy over the years also includes the 2009 Romantic Comedy LOVE N' DANCING, which was directed by Rob Iscove (She's All That), and stars Amy Smart, Malloy, Billy Zane, Rachel Dratch, and Betty White; the psychological thriller THE ALPHABET KILLER, directed by Rob Schmidt (Wrong Turn, Crime & Punishment in Suburbia) and stars Eliza Dushku, Cary Elwes, Malloy, Timothy Hutton, Michael Ironside, and Oscar Winner Melissa Leo; and a thriller directed by Mary Lambert (Pet Sematary) called THE ATTIC, starring John Savage, Malloy, and Elisabeth Moss. Recent television projects for the company include the Amazon TV Series MIDTOWN, which is now in its 2nd Season, as well as the TV pilot THE FUZZ, which was directed by Art Wolff (who also directed the pilot for Seinfeld) and starred Malloy, Peter Jason and Gregory Harrison.

Malloy's unique ability to both write projects and raise the funding for them has been a primary factor in the success of the company. In fact, Malloy shares his expertise on the subject in his best-selling book about independent film financing, BANKROLL, which is now in its 2nd edition and is considered the "gold standard" of indie film financing. In 2014, he partnered with distribution expert Jason Brubaker to create THE FILM FINANCE GUIDE. Currently BANKROLL has been converted to a video series at www.bankrollyourmovie.com.
